

JOB ALVORD.

DECEMBER 30, 1831.

Mr. BATES, (of Mass.) from the Committee on Revolutionary Claims, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Revolutionary Claims, on the petition of Justin Alvord, administrator on the estate of Job Alvord, deceased, report:

That the case was before the committee at the first session of the last Congress, and a report made thereon; in which report the committee now concur, and to which they refer.

JANUARY 20, 1830.

The Committee on Revolutionary Claims, on the petition of Justin Alvord, administrator of Job Alvord, deceased, report:

The petitioner states, that Job Alvord, of South Hadley, Massachusetts, on whose estate he is administrator, served as a lieutenant in the revolutionary war, through the "one year's enlistment." That, in January, 1777, he entered into the service of the United States as a captain, to serve three years, or during the war, and was attached to the regiment of Colonel William Shepherd; that he served as captain until the year 1779, when he was "deranged," or discharged, there being at that time a surplus of officers; that, by reason of said service, he was entitled to certain bounty land, but that no warrant issued therefor, during his life; yet, since his death, on or about the first of April, 1790, land warrant number twenty-one was issued in the name of Justin Alvord, (the name of the petitioner) administrator of Captain Job Alvord, for three hundred acres of land; and that said warrant was received, as he is advised, by the United States, of the Ohio Land Company, in part payment for public land. That the petitioner, who is still the administrator of said Job Alvord, never made application for said warrant, and that it was issued without his authority or knowledge; that the petitioner and his sister, Lucina Lyman, of Bolton in the State of New York, are the only heirs at law of the said Job Alvord. The petitioner prays, that a land warrant may issue to him and his sister for said land, or that such other relief may be extended to them in the premises, as may be just and proper.

All the material facts above stated are sustained not only by the oath of the petitioner, but by other competent and satisfactory evidence.

The committee therefore report a bill for the relief of the legal representatives of the said Job Alvord.

JOHN ALFORD

Document No. 1881

Mr. BATES (of Mass.) from the Committee on Revolutionary Claims, reads the following:

REPORT

The Committee on Revolutionary Claims, on the petition of John Alford, and administrator on the estate of Job Alford, deceased, report:

That the case was before the Committee at the first session of the last Congress, and a report made thereon; in which report the committee now concur, and to which they add:

January 30, 1830.

The Committee on Revolutionary Claims, on the petition of John Alford,
and administrator of Job Alford, deceased, report:

The petitioner states that Job Alford, of South Hackley, Massachusetts, whose estate he is administrator, served as a lieutenant in the revolutionary war, through the "one year's enlistment." That in January, 1777, he entered into the service of the United States as a soldier, to serve years, or during the war, and was attached to the regiment of Colonel William Mifflin, and he served as captain until the year 1779, when he was "discharged," or discharged, there being at that time a surplus of officers; that, by reason of, and service, he was entitled to certain bounty land, but that no warrant issued thereon during his life; yet, since his death, on or about the first of April, 1790, land warrant number twenty one was issued in the name of William Alford (the name of the petitioner's ancestor-father of Captain Job Alford, for three hundred acres of land; and that said warrant was received, as he is advised by the United States of the Ohio Land Company, in part payment for public land. That the petitioner, who is still the administrator of said Job Alford, never made application for said warrant, and that it was issued without his authority or knowledge; that the petitioner and his sister, Lucina Pyman, of Bolton in the State of New York, are the only heirs at law of the said Job Alford. The petitioner prays that a land warrant may issue to him and his sister for said land, or that such other relief may be extended to them in the premises as may be just and proper.

All the material facts above stated are sustained not only by the oath of the petitioner, but by other competent and satisfactory evidence.
The committee therefore report a bill for the relief of the legal representatives of the said Job Alford.
